Session 178: The act of creation

Summary: This is a discourse on the act of constant creation. On the physical plane, each thought, desire, idea, or emotion of your awareness interacts with uncreated energy to create “seeds” that seek to manifest in the physical world. Each seed should be nourished by awareness. However, uncontrolled thoughts and desires create manifestations that conflict or are abandoned. Experiencing each moment as it is without reference to the past, or the future can avoid the birthing of ideas and manifestations.

Other comments: I note some parallels (not raised here) to Vedic and Buddhist ideas related to karma and attachment.
